presents

MIGHTIER THAN THE SWORD

On display through July 29, 2017

"Mightier Than the Sword" examines the history and evolution of African American literature from the 18th century to the present—from autobiographical slave narratives to the creative explosion of the Harlem Renaissance and from the Black Arts Movement to modern-day authors, poets, and playwrights. The exhibit features influential black authors and examines the role literature has played in shaping public opinion on political and cultural issues.
